A CHINESE RED, BUFF AND BLACK LACQUER RECTANGULAR PANEL, with warriors attacking a line of forts in a very mountainous landscape a lengthy inscription in a cartouche above, the border with imperial five-clawed dragon facing sacred pearls among cloud-scrolls, 19th Century
24in. (62cm.) × 39in. (100cm.)

The scene depicted on this plaque is related to the series illustrating the campaigns of the Emperor Qianlong which were produced by the French artist J. P. LeBas and others; though the present subject is not apparently taken from any of those engravings.
